TITLE OF INVENTION

ABSTRACT

A method for providing a preview via a network of the potential effects of cosmetic surgery includes selecting a cosmetic surgery procedure, asking at least one question regarding the body of a prospective patient via the network, viewing and/or selecting images related to the body of the patient and/or the selected cosmetic surgery procedure, answering the question(s) via the network and using the answers to form preview image of the prospective patient showing the potential effects of the selected cosmetic surgery procedure.